Introduction

The aim of this report is to look ^{grammatical} attendance of museums and galleries in England. Museums and Galleries shows ^{grammatical} historical part of lives in other times, but they are not so popular with tourists and citizens. The chart draws on information for three separate years which was given by social statistics.

The statistic about attendance

^{grammatical} Some museums (such as British Museum, National Gallery, Tate Gallery) has increased their attendance, while others (such as Natural History Museum and Science Museum) has ^{grammatical} decreased it. In 2013 Science Museum was the most respectively attendant between museums. However, in 2017 it decreased their dates. British Museum was lower than science museum in 2013, but it has increased their attendance ^{lexical} from 2.6 mln (2013) to 5.6 mln (2017). ~~However~~ According to the chart, British Museum rated on the 1st place between Museums and Galleries of England. In addition, Natural History Museum's and Science Museum's attendance hadn't been decreased through years. In 2015 their attendances were lower than previous and next years.

Some recommendations ~~about~~ ~~in~~ ~~not~~ increasing attendance. The explanation of this situation may be the work of staff of these Museums and Galleries. Attendance can be increased by PR-works such as advertisements. Furthermore, it can be increased by ~~some~~ making new exhibitions. For example, England is a monarchy with a big history. In one of these Museums can be opened exhibition about relatives and jewells of British Royal Family. Another way to increase the attendance is to invite exhibitors of all over the world.

Conclusion.

→ Grammatical

Finally, it has to be done a big work. Moreover, attendance of the Museums and Galleries is becoming higher. That's why we can say that there are a lot of people who are attracted with Museums and Galleries and interested in history of the world.
