In our life museums and galleries play a great role. Everyone, seeking information in a particular area, can come to the museum and find out the data that he or she is looking for. But, looking at the chart showing visits to those places, I can resolutely say that there are a lot of changes. Let's better examine this table. 160

I must say that there is an incredible rise in visiting places of cultural entertainment. As I see, British Museum and galleries became much popular than ~~the~~ <sup>they</sup> were but museums of history and science lost their attraction. 37

Firstly, examining number of visitors, it is obviously that the rate of two museums related to science became less attractive to people. But, respectively, I need to notice that in period of 2015 to 2017 amount of visitors increased a little bit. However, British Museum and National Gallery are very popular among native people and travellers. In 2017 there were 5,6 mln visitors in British Museum while in Science Museum there were only 1,6 mln. In Tate Gallery there were only 0,9 mln visitors but in 2017 there were 2,2 mln. 197

I would politely recommend to the whole museums and galleries draw on something new. The most attractive thing for visitors, in my opinion, is experiment. And the best experiment is experiment in which every wishing human can take part. 139

To sum up, I suggest museums to make some changes to increase their popularity because museums and galleries are the best source of information and we should visit them as often as it is possible. 35
