Introduction:

The aim of this report is to show how can the attendance of museums and galleries change and give recommendations to the organizations about ways to increase it.

Changes:

As you can see in the table, visits to British museum, National Gallery and Tate Gallery are rising up every year; by the way British museum seems to be the most popular as there are 5.6 mln visits in 2017. On the other hand, attendance of National History Museum and Science Museum has drown on in recent years. Probably, the introduction of admission charges in 2014 could lead to it.

Comparisons:

Comparing visits of the first three organizations in 2013 and 2015, we can see it respectively grew up practically twice. Nevertheless, trends of this development in 2017 are rated as not so surprising. In comparison with development of visits in 2013-2015 (British museum), the attendance of Science Museum in 2015-2017 is a bit slowly. That is why Natural Museum of History growing and Science museum should pay more attention on the wide advertisement on Mass media. The other way to increase visits is appeal to be cooperation with other similar organizations.

Conclusion:

It is really important to keep and increase interest of people to museums and galleries. So, the museum boards of directors ought to be careful with PR and other substantial spheres of leadership.
