It was a trip I'll never forget. This bizarre story starts when my father, mother, younger sister and I went on a picnic. We have been planning it since last year. We thought the family trip would be a great opportunity for us to get closer as a family. We did not know then what kind of bizarre and challenging situations fate would make us to face! In the beginning everything was pretty good: we were singing songs, talking to each other about interesting stuff. Everything was great until we found out that we had run out of petrol! My amazing plans to have the most wonderful time with my family were completely shattered! We all got really confused because the next nearest destination was ~~like 100~~ <sup>like 100</sup> kilometres away. We had nothing to do but pack some food, ~~and~~ warm clothes and start our longest journey ever! My mom was really confused and kind of scared but she was trying her best to cheer me up. My dad was trying to find out ~~out~~ the most safe and fast road to the destination. My younger sister wanted to seem brave and not tired after an hour of walking, ~~but the~~ <sup>but the</sup> father took her on his hands and she immediately fell asleep. ~~By the way it started getting darker~~ ~~we star~~ here really scared but we kept going, ~~we were~~ taking breaks from time to time to drink water and take a rest. My father told us: 'Let's go. It's getting dark. The more we are taking a rest, the ~~more~~ less time we have to get a village safe! And we just continued to go. ~~There were~~ <sup>and</sup> the most exhausting bewildering five hours of in my life. ~~By the way~~ ~~And~~ when we occasionally saw lights towards us I suddenly screamed: 'We did it!' and started to cry. I was thanking God for our surviving. I'll never forget this bewildering trip.
